

Government grant to the universities

The statement made by ROBERT CLARK, Minister of Education for the Province of Alberta, concerning the decisions made by the government with respect to university financing is printed below. MAX WYMAN, President of the University, also issued a statement which follows.

UNIVERSITY COSTS

ROBERT CLARK, Minister of Education, announced that for 1971-72 he will be recommending to the Legislature an increase of 6 per cent in the full-time student grant to Alberta universities. This recommendation is within the guidelines previously established for the province's grade one to twelve school system. At the same time the government has requested the universities to hold Canadian and landed immigrant student fees at the same level as this year.

The university system revenue will, therefore, be approximately 2.6 per cent below the original level recommended by the Universities Commission for 1971-72.

Pending the outcome of a detailed study and evaluation of the need for increased enrolment in and the cost of graduate studies, the government has asked the Universities Commission to request the Universities of Alberta and Calgary to exercise caution and place some limitation on the number of new students accepted for graduate study.

"The government realizes that the support being proposed for the universities, the elementary and secondary schools, and other post-secondary institutions is less than those institutions would wish. However, at a time when the government must meet many needs, including increased welfare costs, development of new job opportunities, and improvement of the environment, all while avoiding inflation, the universities must share in the attainment of these goals by operating more efficiently," said Mr. Clark.

"As the Seventh Annual Review of the Economic Council of Canada has pointed out, governments are now spending as much on post-secondary institutions as on hospitals or the aged—and over the past 10 years, post-secondary expenditures have been increasing much more rapidly. In the light of the finding of the Economic Council of Canada, that in spite of a steady increase in the capital of Canada's universities, they have not significantly improved their output of graduates per teacher, I think Alberta's universities could profit from a harder look at their internal priorities," said Mr. Clark.

"Last year at this time, in the course of announcing the government's level of support for the universities, I made it clear that the time had come for the institutions to perform some searching self-analysis in order to reduce waste and find more effective ways of carrying out their programs. Since that time, the universities have begun to re-examine their spending, and some economies have been made. We are convinced, however, that more work remains to be done in this area, perhaps in the area of the teaching load of some professors."

The Minister made three additional announcements concerning government funding for the universities for the coming year. First, he said, student registration in the Alberta universities for 1970-71, although higher than 1969-70, was below projections developed by the Universities Commission in consultation with the universities. The other western provinces have experienced a similar trend.

The consequent shortfall in university revenues, including fees and formula government grants based on student numbers, exceeded $4,000,000. As this shortfall was not anticipated on the basis of student applications, it was not known until after preliminary university registration figures became available in mid-October. At this late date the universities were unable to make sufficient expenditure reductions in the remaining five-and-a-half months of the fiscal year to offset this large shortfall in revenue. The government has therefore increased the 1970-71 per-student grant to the universities and the Banff School to provide an additional government grant of $1,925,000.

Second, last September, a meeting was held by the Cabinet with representatives of the universities and the Universities Commission to exchange views on university affairs. At this meeting the major item of concern raised by the universities was the provision of formula operating grants based on actual student enrolment at December 1.

The university representatives pointed out to the government that if actual student enrolment exceeded the projections, the universities could not prudently spend the extra income in that fiscal year as it would be too late in the academic year to employ additional academic and support staff. Conversely, if the enrolments, and thus funds, fall moderately below projection, the universities could not proportionately reduce budgeted expenditures as staff had already been employed to provide for the projected enrolment. If the shortfall was large, the universities would be forced into a serious deficit situation.

As a consequence of this expressed concern and on the basis of a strong recommendation by the Universities Commission, the government has agreed to provide support for 1971-72 on the basis of enrolment projections. If the actual enrolments in 1971-72 are above or below the projections, the 1972-73 projections will be adjusted accordingly. The Cabinet proposes to hold a similar meeting with university representatives in the fall of 1971.

Finally, in discussion and consultation with the Universities Commission the government has arranged for the establishment of several studies essential to effective long-term university planning. Included are studies on: adequate provision for student transferability between Alberta's post-secondary institutions; a medical education cost-study; the preparation of "guidelines" for the future development of post-secondary education in Alberta; and the provision of co-ordinated library and computer services for Alberta's post-secondary system. "These studies," said Mr. Clark, "were first proposed by the Universities Commission as a part of its desire to rationalize the Alberta universities system and are in line with the recommendations of the Economic Council of Canada."

DR. WYMAN'S STATEMENT

I am naturally disappointed that the government was not able to meet the request of the Universities Commission with respect to the government grant for universities. However, in the light of high unemployment, high welfare costs, high health costs, and other demands on government budgets, a six per cent increase in the full-time student grant is not unreasonable for the system as a whole. The decision to give universities a fixed dollar grant as of April 1, rather than an amount decided by a count of students two thirds through the budget year, is a big step forward, one that all the universities in Alberta will welcome.

However, in times like these, the Universities Commission must re-examine the principles by means of which the government grant is divided among the various universities in the system. At The University of Alberta we have already reduced academic positions by 60 and non-academic positions by 123. Other cuts have reduced our annual expenditures by about two million dollars a year. In spite of all of these cuts, the proposed division of the government grant implies that the expenditure per student at The University of Alberta will not increase from 1970-71 to 1971-72. At a time when the government is allowing a six per cent increase in the government grant per student, this probably means that the unit costs at other universities in the system will be allowed to increase at a rate that will exceed the six per cent guideline. Harsh decisions should be made by the Universities

Commission on expansion of programs, and it is not, in my opinion, equitable to allow expansion of programs elsewhere and at the same time force a retrenchment at The University of Alberta.

OREST STARCHUK

A Professor and former Chairman of Slavic Languages, OREST STARCHUK, died of a heart attack Sunday morning, February 14.

Professor Starchuk was born in 1915 in Chernovitz, in what is now Rumania, and graduated from the Charles II University in that city. Following the war he worked with the British Military Government in Germany and subsequently joined the staff of The University of Alberta in 1949.

Professor Starchuk was instrumental in building the Slavic languages program and Slavic studies generally at this University and, as one of the founders of the Canadian Slavic Association, throughout the country. Largely because of his efforts, the University Library has perhaps the best Slavic collection in Canada.

UNIVERSITY POLICE POLICY

The statement and motion made by Alderman DAVID C. WARD to City Council regarding "non-discriminatory police protection" together with a reply by D. G. TYNDALL, Vice-President (Finance and Administration) are printed below. The motion was made February 8 and was referred to the Police Commission.

MR. WARD'S LETTER

Further to my notice of motion of January 25 that I would move: "THAT the City of Edmonton, through the proper channels, take whatever steps necessary to insure adequate and non-discriminatory police protection for all citizens within the corporate boundaries of the city of Edmonton"—a statement of clarification may be in order:

Firstly, the motion is referring to the situation at The University of Alberta campus and "the proper channels" may be the Attorney General's Department or the Department of Education, or the Legislative Assembly itself if The Universities Act must be amended to achieve equal police protection for all citizens in this city.

Secondly, the motion itself is redundant if, in fact, the University campus is under the same measure and type of law enforcement and protection as the rest of the city. However, Dr. D. G. Tyndall, Vice-President of Finance and Administration, responsible for The University of Alberta security force is quoted in The Edmonton Journal as saying "The needs of the University under certain circumstances require methods of law enforcement which differ from those suitable in other areas of the city and province"—without any explanation of why the University requires different methods of law enforcement. He is also quoted as saying that "the University will take whatever action it considers appropriate" regarding drug and liquor offences.

This, obviously, is quite a different approach to enforcement and protection than is offered elsewhere in the city of Edmonton. Basically it boils down to the fact that law breakers in 1/20 of Edmonton's population and the people they may affect are handled by a group of security guards who are not trained in municipal police work and by an administrative head who has had little, if any, police experience.

One could go on to mention the recent "light standard" incident where two students assisted another to physically overcome being detained by a campus guard, for breaking a light standard with loaders stolen from a construction site—at a cost of $300 to the taxpayers. Or the supposedly "funny" assassination attempt at the Garneau Theatre with shotgun blasts included—or the many students who have been harmed by "drug-pushers" who invade the area because of inadequate police protection—or the statement by The University of Alberta football coach who stated he probably wouldn't even have gone to The University of Alberta/Calgary football game last year (if he had not been coach) due to the excessive drinking—and even the statement of the President of the Students' Union who stated that he feels The University of Alberta campus should come under the same legislation as the rest of the city—and, possibly many, many more over the years.

It is obvious that there is a difference in enforcement, and it is obvious (at least in my estimation) that this "double standard" does not assist the student, in any way, to cope with the world he will soon be facing. There may be excuses (Continued on page six)

Visitors to Varsity Guest Weekend 1971 saw some new and some traditional displays. There was a graphics exhibition, arranged by WALTER JUNGKIND, Associate Professor of Art, in the Students' Union Building Art Gallery; The Commontree, the Jubilaires' annual musical production, was presented in the SUB Theatre (it will run again February 18, 19 and 20). Future engineers inspected wind tunnels and other apparatus, while some watched the art of blowing glass, and playing broomball.

I would, therefore, urge Council to support this motion and ensure its implementation with all haste.

DR. TYNDALL'S LETTER

I wish to bring to the attention of the Mayor and members of City Council certain facts relevant to the notice of motion given by Alderman Ward on January 25, 1971, and to his comments thereon.

First I should like to emphasize that The University of Alberta is, and always has been, eager and willing to co-operate fully and in every way with the City of Edmonton and with the Attorney General's Department in the proper enforcement of the laws of the city, of the province, and of Canada. We have received no complaints regarding enforcement from the Edmonton City Police, or the Attorney General's Department, or the RCMP. Mr. Ward raised certain complaints with me during a news conference some days ago. I believe that I responded to those complaints at that time.

Mr. Ward's present complaints appear to be based on a rather thorough misunderstanding of the facts. The following examples will perhaps suffice to illustrate this point:

Mr. Ward claims that: University "security guards . . . are not trained in municipal police work."

The fact: The officers of the University's Campus Security Force do receive training in municipal police work. Their training is very similar to that received by the Edmonton City Police.

Mr. Ward claims that: The administrative head of the University's Security Force "has had little, if any, police experience."

The fact: The Director of Security (the administrative officer in charge of the University's Security Force) had 26 years of police experience, much of which related to municipal work, before entering University service in 1968. Neither Dr. Wyman nor I have had any police experience; but, to my knowledge, neither has the mayor of this city.

Mr. Ward claims that: "drug pushers . . . invade the (campus) area because of inadequate police protection."

The fact: If any person is found on campus who is suspected of trafficking in illegal drugs, the fact is reported promptly to the RCMP. The RCMP then take appropriate action. In the meantime, the suspect is kept under surveillance. If Mr. Ward has any evidence regarding drug-pushers on campus, he has a responsibility to report such evidence to the proper authorities; to my knowledge, he has not done so.

Mr. Ward also mentions certain "incidents." According to his statement, one of these occurred off campus so that it is difficult to understand how it is relevant to his motion. With respect to another incident, the University had instructed that an information be laid with the Edmonton City Police against the man involved in damaging the light standard, prior to any action in this matter by Mr. Ward.

The University will be glad to investigate any specific complaints which members of Council or any citizen of Edmonton or of Alberta may have regarding security on campus, but we resent unfounded accusations based on misinformation and hearsay. They serve no public purpose.

EMPLOYMENT OF UNIVERSITY GRADUATES

The following is summarized from The Financial Post, January 23, 1971.

The federal government's Pay Research Bureau reports that the number of graduates required in most disciplines has declined significantly from the requirement reported in 1961. "Soft" demand for graduates is reflected in the salary offers. Companies have increased their offers only 3 to 5 per cent this year, much less than increases in preceding years (see table).

Leading campus recruiters this year have scaled down their graduate intake. On campus recruiting starts November 1 across Canada, and reaches a peak in the last two weeks of January. This year recruiting could drag into May if there is a detectable upturn in the economy. While their demand is down on the average, company recruiters find themselves interviewing more students than ever.

General arts graduates face increasing difficulty created by their numbers and the fact that they are generalists in a world that needs specialists. Diploma graduates from community colleges form new threats to the arts graduates, chiefly because they are more specifically trained. Science graduates are only slightly better off than arts graduates, except for some disciplines, for example, geology, in which there is a demand.

BOOKS

GERALD REDMOND, a PhD candidate in the Faculty of Physical Education, has had his master's thesis accepted for publication. Prepared originally for the University of Massachusetts, the thesis is shortly to be published in book form by the Fairleigh Dickinson University Press of New Jersey under the title The Caledonian Games in Nineteenth-Century America.

NOTICES

CLASSES CANCELLED

All classes and laboratories have been cancelled on Tuesday, March 2, 1971, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., to allow students to attend the rally in connection with the annual Students' Union elections.

INTERNATIONAL 2DAY

The International Students' Committee is sponsoring an international two-day event on February 23 and 24. Students from various countries will present a picture of their own lands and give Canadians a chance to see themselves as others see them. On Tuesday, February 23, dancers from Thailand, India, and the Ukraine will give a demonstration of their respective group dances and there will be a film and slide show.

The main event is a panel discussion, which will be held on Wednesday, February 24 at 12 noon in SUB Theatre. The subject is "Canada—As Others See Us," and the panel will be at some pains to produce a critical view of Canada and Canadians, particularly in relation to some dearly-held myths, such as Canadian anti-imperialism and anti-racism. The panelists are ORMAN GRANGER (Department of Geography); OKON UDOKANG (Department of Political Science); S. SINGLETON (Department of Political Science); F. C. BENTLEY (Department of Agriculture—Soil Science) and RISHEE THAKUR (Faculty of Arts). Further information may be obtained from DAVID GUE, Foreign Student Adviser, at 432-4145.

EXTENSION COURSES

A four-session course in estate planning is being offered by the Department of Extension beginning March 3, for four Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Designed to provide information to individuals and families on the laws and taxes affecting wills and estate planning, the course will cover estate tax, rebate of estate tax in Alberta, lifetime gifts and gift tax, planning a will, guardianship of infants, and estate administration. No previous knowledge is necessary and ample time will be allowed for questions and discussion.

The instructors are JOHN H. CORBETT, QC, ALEXANDER HOGAN, BA, LLB, and JAMES E. LEWIS, BA, LLB; the fee is $10 per person or $15 for husband and wife, and registrations are being accepted at Corbett Hall, telephone 439-2021, extension 66.

A Sales Tax Seminar, sponsored by the Department of Extension of The University of Alberta and the Department of Continuing Education of The University of Calgary is to be held in Edmonton on March 1 and 2 and in Calgary on March 4 and 5. It is designed for accountants in public practice and in industry who require a broad introduction to the federal sales tax system, and will be a combination of lectures and case histories. Registrations are now being accepted; the fee is $95 which includes course materials and lunch. Each seminar will be limited to 40 students.

The Department of Extension is also offering a new course on "Religious Beliefs of North American Indians and Eskimos." It will be held on six Mondays from 8 to 10 p.m., and the fee is $17.50. The lectures will be given in the Religious Studies Department house at 11106 - 87 Avenue. Information may be obtained from the Department of Extension at 439-2021, extension 36.
